

From our wedding page: MEANINGFUL CONNECTION

Today, we're finding people do want more. They're telling us they want unique and different. They want NEW. They want to be surprised, and delighted. They want to FEEL something that really honestly excites them...might not even be sure what it is...but they sure know it when it's happening. It's real feelings, real emotions, a real story and It's mind blowing and awesome.

When we asked what this is it that people are seeking? We got this answer back:

Positively charged and engaging Meaningful Connection.

This is when something communicated becomes of such value to someone. If you know someone and you are able to create value for them by sharing vital information, or making them feel happy, less alone, inspired, attractive; allowing them feel tenderness or compassion, making them laugh, offering them a smile that says more than I'm enjoying you, maybe flirting, or admiring, or even cheering someone on. As long as these things are being communicated authentically, they become Positively charged and engaging Meaningful Connection..

And when this positively charged Meaningful Connection happens at a wedding people find themselves taken on a journey they never forget. Hearts being opened wide.

There is an aliveness and to the energy. The emotion palpitates, and appreciates and forms an indelible unbreakable connection to you, the one who made it happen.

This appreciation amplifies out to your loved ones, and every one of your most important people there that day.

The crazy thing is, and this has been proven: Even the plus ones, colleagues, influential business ties, even the wait staff, and bartenders who don't even know you well or at all, are pulled into this magnetic Meaningful Connection. They get amped up and inspired. And they were never expecting it.

Imagine for a second what that would feel like...this full loving energy so strong that people you don't even know are coming up to you and treating you like a rock and roll star. And your family and friends well – imagine you're getting everything you ever wanted to coming together at once.

That's the next great evolution in weddings that we've been delivering.

The kind of Celebration that becomes not just the Greatest Wedding Ever but one of the greatest days ever in your life AND their lives.

For our clients it's immeasurable.

For me personally it encompasses everything I ever wanted to do with my life.
